SUBJECT: Academic Computing Committee 2023-2024

I am pleased to invite you to serve on the University Academic Computing Committee for the 2023-2024 academic year. James Adams is serving as chair of the committee.

The committee charge is given below:

Recommends and advises on the computer services to the academic unit and serves as a liaison between faculty, students, and computer center personnel. The primary purpose of this committee is to provide a regular review of the current services and those planned which would impact teaching and research in all academic areas. The committee regularly meets to provide informal review of current and planned research projects. The committee will function as a subcommittee to the information services of the University.

The work of the University Standing Committee on Information Services is available at http://www.usa.edu/information-services. If you have any questions, please let me know.
